

Rules at the North Pole

Whether this is your first murder mystery experience or your fortieth, each murder mystery experience is different and has different rules pertaining. Here are some tips to review to help make sure the night is an unforgettable experience.

Read Your Character Sheet—This contains your identity and all the information you will need to play your part.

Do not Reveal Everything About Your Character—While there are many things that everyone needs to know about you, there are some things that should remain secret. Use your discretion as to not give too much away—you may find out at the party that you are the killer indeed!

Dress The Part—It's a proven fact that the more into character you are, the easier it will be for you to truly enjoy all the aspects of the night. In addition, it adds to the excitement, the photo opportunities, and your chance to be voted best dressed. See www.nightofmystery.com for costume ideas.

Review Your Materials—Included in this invite will be the "Holiday Times" newsletter. Be sure to review this for it includes background information on the other guests attending the party. This information may be useful the night of the party.

Use Your Money Creatively—Upon arrival, you will receive some money to spend any way you choose. Bribery and blackmail are two of the most common uses we found (and highly encouraged). The wealthiest player at the end of the night will also receive an award for their ability to turn a profit.
